Guardians of Greyrock is an indie tactical RPG set in an engrossing fantasy world, where players are left to guide a young Greywolf through a harsh and unforgiving environment. The custom built game engine is developed to provide the maximum sense of immersion into the gameplay experience, and an emphasis on atmospheric effects. The Guardian of Greyrock is able to cast a variety of spells to aid him, allowing him to fight in elemental and physical spells. Players must carefully choose what spells to cast when to avoid incurring increased encounter difficulty and additional fatigue. Guardians of Greyrock has a unique campaign system of randomly generated stages to enable new challenges and replayability. Each stage, as well as the battles in between them, can be replayed to progress to new locations and encounter new foes. This enables you to complete the campaign on your own time, however you so choose. Players can have up to 3 companions available in the campaign. Each companion has an Intelligence and Willpower scale, allowing for varying degrees of assistance and support. Companions will provide assistance with spells, healing, and ammunition, as well as an additional force of attack. Please note that companions will only be able to use those spells which they have learned, and thus player must keep the companions levels up and with a good level of training to ensure full support from them. Some abilities and items obtained as player progress through the game will also provide companions with a support ability. This will be able to assist in the battle against foes which the player may not be equipped or trained in. Guardians of Greyrock does not feature a level up system. Rather, player's character will receive experience points for tasks completed in the game, allowing them to increase their experience level. This will also result in a character gaining access to new weapon types and more spells, but no additional "cap". As character levels increase, it will be possible to purchase additional spells and obtain new armor. Expand your adventure with this additional card pack for Guardians of Greyrock! Adds fearsome new encounters to various locales within the "Sunfall Vale" region deck!
