There were many obvious gaps in the historical narrative, gaps that implied different historical, social, and political context for the events and events in our past. Many of these gaps were explained by the bishop himself in the footnotes - especially in the portion where he addressed the question of whether or not the Son of God came into the world, which is found in chapters 8 and 18. In the end, he concluded that the Son of God did come into the world, but that he was not present in the world as a physical person. That is the part that I have a problem with. I have a problem because it seems to me that this is a huge missed opportunity. If we are to follow the narrative laid out by this book, which tells the story of our history from the very beginning, then it seems to me that the story that Bishop Usher tells is incomplete. The possibility for the more complex narrative to be told is nearly nonexistent. I think the bishop should have explained that that which we have called the New Testament was written by a time when the Son of God was clearly manifested in the world.

We conducted a prospective study of hypospadias repair to compare the short- and long-term results of the tubularized incised plate (TIP) technique with the Mathieu meatal advancement flap (MMAF) and the Snodgrass technique. Seventy-five children with hypospadias were studied. The TIP (n = 35) and the MMAF (n = 30) were completed in 25-30 min; the Snodgrass technique (n = 10) was completed in 60-90 min. There was no statistically significant difference in the type of hypospadias, the follow-up period,
