Imagine this: It's the year 2020, and you're a young genius. Instead of going for a hike or taking a nap, you're busy tweaking your smartphone to change the way the world works and your life is no longer wasted by boredom and insecurity. You're a visionary, a hacker, a MIT degree and a black belt in all the programming languages, and no matter where you go in this virtual universe, you take with you, on your smartphone, the paradise and complete control of the future. But somewhere in the future of tomorrow, I'm sorry to say, your smartphone and your home and your people will be taken from you, and the world will turn upside down, a thing that's, unfortunately, become reality during our lifetime. Your world will be taken over by evil dictator, and you'll be forced to live a life of slavery and working long hours to buy drugs for those who can afford to pay. Only the few people who can afford to pay their way will be able to escape from the dictatorship for good, and your world will be far from what it has been. You don't have time to worry, because you are busy programming a robot to rule the world. This robot is called dr. Tomorrow, and he is built to fool the world with an artificial intelligence which is stronger than us; he is called dr. As long as there are people with access to your technology, you will be able to update the world and create a future that is better than the past, and your hard work will pay off. The world is listening and taking all of your ideas, and it might be enough to protect you, a young person who dreamed of a better life for all. But something is wrong. You must be able to know what your goal is, and you can't keep fooling the people any longer, and you must stop it at once. . One of the best security tools available to you is your smartphone, and you need to know your worth. You must learn the truth about your life and your people, and you must control them, since the world is listening to you. You know that you are different from everyone else around you, because you have access to the future and you must protect it from dr. You have everything you need to know, and you are ready for the battle to start. The game starts now. "The World is listening, Dr. Tomorrow" is an original point-and-
